About Me

Hi, I'm Nahom Habtmu, a 13-year-old coder passionate about technology and web development. I'm currently in 7th grade and have a deep interest in creating websites and exploring new programming languages. My goal is to start my own software company, Nahom Software Company, in the future. When I'm not coding, I enjoy learning about new tech trends and working on personal projects that challenge my skills.

Education

I'm currently a 7th-grade student, where I'm building a strong foundation in subjects like mathematics, science, and technology. Alongside my schoolwork,

I'm actively pursuing my passion for coding by taking web development courses and working on personal projects to enhance my skills. My goal is to continue learning and developing my expertise in programming, especially in web development, as I prepare for more advanced studies in the future.

Experience

- Personal Projects: I've been actively working on various coding projects, including creating websites using HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. I'm currently focused on building a personal portfolio website, where I can showcase my coding skills and projects.
- Web Development: I have completed several online courses in web development, where I learned how to design and build responsive websites. I'm proficient in HTML, CSS, and JavaScript, and I'm exploring more advanced tools like Node.js.
- Coding Challenges: I enjoy solving coding challenges that help me improve my problem-solving skills and understanding of different programming languages.
